Overall Leader Board

Sorted By Category - Then Series Average Speed

Raw Data For All Races & Before Time Bonus

Overall Results Calculation:

The exact distance of every course was measured and the average speed of each racer was then determined by their finishing time. Each racer's overall series speed was then calculated by adding up the speed from all their races entered and dividing by the number of races entered. If a racer entered all five races, their slowest race was dropped from the average. Those racers that did four or more races qualified for overall series prizes.
